CONSISTENCY.

Consistency is a jewel possessed by the few, and it is very evident that President Cleveland is not one of those. Four years ago the battle cry of the followers of the president was, "Cleveland and reform." As a reformer one looks in vain for the least manifestation of this characteristic. The civil service laws were lauded and endorsed by the best citizens in the land, and professedly by the president himself, but since his inauguration they have been treated with contempt, and only enforced its provisions when that practice gave him the most gain. What is "offensive partisanship" in the republican is commendable zeal in the democrat. The federal official that contributed a small sum to the success of the republican cause committed an unpardonable offence against the civil service laws, but the president commends the plan to his democratic followers by chuck-ling into the campaign fund one-fifth of a year's salary; or by permitting his "heads of bureaus" to demand five per cent. of the salaries of each official holding a commission under him. He certainly does not possess one jot of political consistency.
 His friends understand perfectly well that there is no such thing as faithfulness in his nature, except to his own self-interest. A life-time of faithful service is to him nothing as compared with the promise of future advantage. In friendship and in enmity he is alike inconsistent.
 Forgetful of service, he succumbs readily to the show of power. What he would never grant to favor, he promptly yields to fear. Professing to believe a second term a thing of peril to the nation, he not only accepts a re-nomination, but uses the power of his office to secure it. In all his life, hitherto, no one has found stable ground for accusing Grover Cleveland of consistency in anything except the pursuit of his own self-interest and the gratification of his own personal desires.
 Even those who find excuse for his acts admit their inconsistency, and only aver, in extenuation, that he has yielded to the influences by which he has been surrounded. In one thing, however, he has been singularly and entirely consistent—his inveterate and unrelenting hostility to the federal soldier of the war of the rebellion.

FATHER OF ENORMOUS EVILS.

"Free trade is no doubt true in theory but will not do in practice." This saying of our protectionists has afforded much amusement to theorists and scientific economists.
 They exclaim, "as if anything could be all right in theory and wrong in practice," and make merry over the ignorance of unstudied practical men. Thus do our wise men often make themselves ridiculous, as did the Greek astronomer who tumbled in the ditch at his door-side while gazing at the stars, regardless of his footsteps.

The very nations that now insist on our attempting free trade are the very ones that forced us into common sense protection. France and England in their wars of 1795-1815 when our nation began her splendid career and was offering free trade to all the world, yes, when we were the first nation that had ever adopted free trade and were extending our hands in the spirit of amicable commerce (see messages of Monroe and John Quincy Adams to congress) to all the states of the world, those two nations closed our ports, blockaded them and destroyed our trade and held us under embargo by their Milan Decree and Orders in Council for years, and England later forced us into war and into continued blockades of our own ports. This was a protective tariff with a vengeance, and we were forced during many long years to manufacture or do without commodities save of our own production. Our manufactures originated under stern necessity and they flourished as never before or since, under this entire protection.
 Our whole agriculture and manufacturing system was perfectly adjusted to the conditions thus imposed upon us by ravening, cruel war. But, bless you, no sooner had these two tigerish nations ceased clawing at each others throats and made peace, when they began to pour out the products of their long glutted markets upon us. They had such vast quantities of clothing, ammunition, arms, furniture, everything made in cities, and such a "plentiful lack" of country products that they loaded ships with their stuffs and set off for America for wool, grain, tobacco and other necessities of life. Our manufactures were closed as by the fiat of fate.
 Thousands of men who had patriotically risked their all in doubtful, difficult new enterprises here to supply the needs of their suffering fellows were ruined. Down we must go. At the same time those foreigners put a big tax on our products sent to their ports.

Finally John Quincy Adams, himself a most ultra free trader in theory, (just read his messages to congress) after expostulating and making every effort to have fair trade at least, came out in a message and said, it would not do. Here are his words, in his fourth annual message, speaking of Great Britain he said: "She excludes all importation * * of the great staple products of our Western states, pro-scribes bulkier lumber and live stock of the East and North—refuses even the rice of the South * * * But the cotton, indispensable for their looms, they receive almost duty free, to weave it for our own wear to the destruction of our manufactures, which they are thus enabled to under sell. Is the self-protecting energy of this nation so helpless that there exists no power to counteract this? Growers of grain excluded from their ports, our shippers dismantle their ships, the trade of the North stagnates at its wharves manufacturers starve at their looms while people pay tribute to foreign industry to be clad in foreign garb." Here then is a free trader of free traders who had been exerting all his very great power to introduce free trade with all nations, and who boasts in that very message that we have free trade with very many states of the world yet finally, in utter disgust, abandoning it in view of the enormous evils it was inflicting on the North, the East and the West.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box.
 For sale by Dr. H. W. Cox.

THE possible results of the coming election are perhaps more far-reaching than is generally supposed. The republicans hold the senate by a very slender majority. The democratic hope is that the democrats will not only succeed in electing Cleveland, but that they will secure a majority in both houses of congress. If the democrats can elect the successor to Mr. Kenna in West Virginia and to Mr. McPherson in New Jersey, and can elect Mr.
 Thurman, they will have the casting vote in the senate. The successor to Mr. Riddleberger is already elected, and he will take his seat in the senate on March 4. With the re-election of Mr. Kenna and Mr.
 McPherson, therefore the two parties in the senate would be equally divided and Mr. Thurman would have the casting vote. The very earnest nature of the campaign for the control of the legislatures in the states of West Virginia and New Jersey will consequently be understood. They involve the possible control of the United States senate for at least two years from March 4, 1889. If the democrats should obtain the control of both houses an extra session soon after inauguration would be probable.
 For the democrats in that case would undoubtedly endeavor to pass the Mills bill before the beginning of the next fiscal year.

The Oregon Land Company's ten acre lots are selling rapidly, 40 having been sold since the 8th of Sept. There is no probability that 10 acres of good land within four miles of Salem will ever again be offered for $30 per acre on easy terms. There are now five houses in process of construction on lots already sold and roads are being opened and bridges built so that the value of all of the lots is being rapidly enhanced. Any one wishing to buy ten acres of good land for much less than the price of a city lot will do well to look at this property at once as there is no doubt but that it will all be sold inside of thirty days. Call at the office of the Oregon Land company on Commercial street and you will be shown the property free of charge.
